2. Blackwater Falls

In West Virginia's Tucker County, Blackwater Falls is a majestic cascade that plunges more than 60 feet into the Blackwater River. Known for its amber-colored waters, the falls create a stunning contrast against the surrounding lush greenery and snowy landscapes during the winter months. Visitors can take advantage of various viewing platforms to take in the grandeur of this natural wonder.

3. Great Falls

Located on the Potomac River between Maryland and Virginia, Great Falls is a series of massive cascades and rapids that offer a thrilling sight. With a vertical drop of approximately 76 feet, this roaring spectacle draws in both nature enthusiasts and kayakers seeking an adrenaline rush. The Great Falls Park provides numerous trails and viewpoints for visitors to witness the power and beauty of this natural wonder.

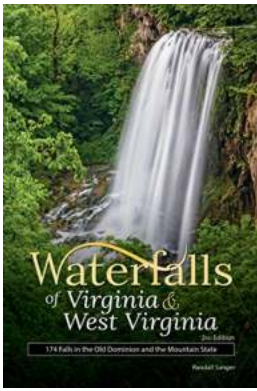

4. Cranberry Glades Botanical Area

While not strictly a waterfall, the Cranberry Glades Botanical Area in West Virginia is a unique natural landscape that features a rich diversity of flora and fauna. Spanning over 750 acres, this area boasts several small, crystal-clear mountain streams that meander through the boggy terrain. These streams create enchanting natural melodies as water gently flows over pebbles and rocks.

These are just a few examples of the stunning waterfalls awaiting discovery in the Old Dominion and the Mountain State. From the enchanting Crabtree Falls to the mesmerizing Blackwater Falls, each cascade showcases the raw power and beauty of nature. Whether you're an avid hiker, a photography enthusiast, or simply someone seeking serenity, exploring the waterfalls in Virginia and West Virginia will undoubtedly provide an unforgettable experience.

So, grab your hiking boots, pack your camera, and embark on an adventure to witness the mesmerizing beauty of 174 falls in the Old Dominion and the Mountain State. You won't be disappointed!
