Choosing the Right Cannabis Strain

The first step in your journey to growing cannabis is selecting the right strain. There are numerous marijuana strains available, each with its own unique characteristics in terms of flavor, aroma, potency, and growing requirements. Consider factors like the plant's size, flowering time, and resistance to pests and diseases.

The strength and potency have increased greatly through advances in genetic manipulation and growing conditions (hydroponics), and today's marijuana can be as much as 15 times stronger than the drug of the 1960's and 70's.

This dramatic increase in potency has nullified much of our understanding of the effects of the drug, and any research done on the intoxication and damages of the smoked drug prior to about a decade ago do not accurately reflect the realities of today's marijuana.
