Early Life and Challenges

Born and raised in a small village, Farida faced numerous challenges from an early age. Growing up in poverty, she witnessed the struggle of her community and the limitations they faced due to a lack of resources and opportunities. However, Farida's fierce spirit and insatiable hunger for knowledge propelled her forward.

Despite facing financial hardships, Farida managed to excel in her studies through sheer dedication. She believes that education is the key to breaking the cycle of poverty, and her unwavering belief in this principle carried her through every obstacle she encountered.

Education and Advocacy

Farida's determination to uplift her community led her to pursue higher education in the field of social work. Armed with a deep understanding of the challenges faced by marginalized people, she embarked on a mission to bring about lasting change.

Farida's work primarily focuses on empowering women and children, who often bear the brunt of social inequalities. She works towards providing access to quality education, healthcare, and skill development opportunities, enabling individuals to become self-reliant and break free from the chains of poverty.

Through her advocacy efforts, Farida has managed to influence policymakers, encouraging them to implement policies that address the needs of the underprivileged. She firmly believes that by empowering the most vulnerable sections of society, we can create a more equitable and progressive world.

Transforming Lives

Farida's relentless efforts have touched the lives of countless individuals. From setting up schools and vocational training centers in remote areas to organizing health camps and awareness programs, she has left no stone unturned in her pursuit of transforming lives.

Her initiatives have opened doors for many children who would have otherwise been denied the chance of education. By providing scholarships and mentorship programs, she ensures that these children not only receive quality education but also gain the confidence needed to pursue their dreams.

Moreover, Farida's work extends beyond education. She actively collaborates with local communities to address issues such as healthcare, sanitation, and women's empowerment. Her multifaceted approach has made a significant impact on the overall well-being and development of the communities she serves.

Awards and Recognition

Farida Farida Amal Ibrahim's remarkable accomplishments have not gone unnoticed. Her dedication and unwavering commitment have earned her numerous accolades and recognition from various national and international organizations.

She has been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize for her noble efforts in promoting education and social justice. Additionally, several universities and institutions have awarded her honorary degrees, acknowledging her exceptional contribution to society.

Inspiring Others

Farida's journey is not just about her personal achievements but about the ripple effect she has created. The lives she has touched resonate with hope, igniting a fire within each individual to make a positive difference in their own communities.

Farida regularly shares her experiences and insights through public speaking engagements, motivating others to join in the pursuit of social change. Her presence serves as a reminder that one person's dedication can mobilize an entire society towards a brighter future.

In

Farida and Aujene know their station in life. Born in Tul Ghosn, a small village deep in the heart of Lebanon's North, they are raised on the presumption that they will marry, bear children and eventually die in their tiny village, which no-one ever leaves. At the behest of their father, they farm the land with the locals, are denied an education and not given many choices in life.

But when Farida is kidnapped, the village is plunged into turmoil as a series of events leads one girl down a path of horror and another on the road to sacrifice. Soon, the curse of an old murder is revisited as the book weaves through a tapestry of age old traditions and long held beliefs.

While Aujene laments the loss of her beloved sister and best friend, her father conspires to sell her into servitude with a family in the city, while her mother clings to her sanity as she scours the streets barefoot in search of her daughter.

When Aujene eventually succumbs to an arranged marriage and moves to Australia, she believes things couldn't get any worse, but she moves from one horrifying ordeal to another as she struggles to fit into a world in which she no longer belongs.
