Lingomania, the 2nd Edition, is a book all about creating words and having fun with them. You can use Lingomania to create a language of your own, a language for you and your friends, or a language to share with the world. It's a great way to learn new words and have fun doing it. This updated edition has over 100 new words to enjoy, plus comics to illustrate each word. Join the world of lingomaniacs when you learn words like: *ANARHINODACTYLOPHILIA, or, love of a finger up the nose *HYPOHUNK, or, below quality male specimen *CACATTITUDE, or, bad attitude *XENOPHILIA, or, love of strangers or foreigners What's fun about making up new words is that the literal meaning of the word you create may not necessarily be the only one. For example, erythrophyllaxis literally means "red protection," but if you interpret it to mean "protection against becoming red," it could mean sunscreen. Similarly, erythrocephaly could describe someone who has red hair on their head, a sunburnt head or a red hat! If there's so many ways for people to interpret a word's meaning, how can you make sure your definition is correct? Well, there are two simple tests: 1) Do you understand it? 2) Does anybody else understand it? If your answer to the first question is "Yes," then your definition is correct. The answer to the second question is only relevant if you care (we certainly don't)! Yours in the love of the English language, Ignatius
